STARTING at 4:05pm

A little about us ...

SPRING QUARTER

Goals for today

- You will be able to define academic probation and good standing.
- You will start an action plan or build on what you have already been doing to support you.
- You will be able to identify campus resources and strategies that can help you return to good academic standing.

Let's warm up
What do you know now?

What is academic probation on the basis of GPA?

A student is on academic probation on the basis of GPA when the quarter &/or cumulative UC grade point average (gpa) is:

- (a) below 1.50 gpa
- (b) below 2.00 but above 1.50
- (c) below 2.00 gpa
- (d) I don't know

ANSWER

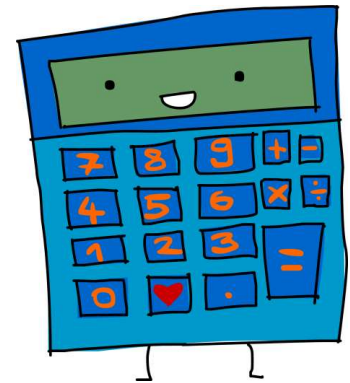

(b) below 2.00 but above 1.50

What is academic probation on the basis of units (minimum progress)?

In order to be in good academic standing for minimum progress a student must:

- (a) pass at least 15 units each quarter
- (b) pass an average of at least 12 units in all full time quarters
- (c) pass an average of 13 units each quarter
- (d) I don't know

ANSWER

- b) pass an average of at least 12 units in all full time quarters

Academic Probation

There are different stages in the probation process...

Grades

Academic Probation - SINGLE quarter

Academic Probation Continued –

TWO consecutive quarters on probation

Subject to Dismissal* -

THREE consecutive quarters on probation; may be dismissed from the university

Units – (minimum progress)

* Other reasons can cause subject to dismissal status for grades

What is Minimum Progress (MP)

Degree Progress Average of 12 units per full-time quarter

- MP will be checked at the end of each quarter
- Workload units do count for minimum progress
- Units in approved part time quarters do not count for MP

See the DEAN'S OFFICE!

- What "counts" for MP
- Strategies to meet MP
- Using summer school for MP
